

Establishing your business in Ireland

When doing business outside of your home country, local market expert knowledge is of fundamental importance and can make a big difference in terms of speed to set up, smooth transition, resource management and maximising your after tax return.

We are an experienced team of international advisors who specialise in assisting businesses with the strategic, compliance and practical matters encountered when setting up their business in Ireland.

Ireland's open for business attitude, highly educated work force and convenient access to the E.U's labour force have made it the destination of choice for over 1,000 multinational businesses to date.

If you would like to join these businesses in globalising your business, we are well placed to assist. We have partnered with HLB International and Irish State Agencies to ensure that we can advise you fully on how to expand successfully in Ireland. HLB Sheehan Quinn can offer a range of packages to get your business up and running, depending on your particular requirements. When setting up in Ireland, a lawyer is not required, so we can provide all of the assistance you need.

Package 1 – Incorporating a Company

HLB Sheehan Quinn will provide the support and assistance necessary to get your company incorporated in Ireland.
